THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—It is supposed that by the 25th inst. the great Atlantic telegraph will be in full operation. At this moment, likely, the steamship Great Eastern is reeling the cable off at the rate of six miles per hour. Every precaution has been adopted to prevent a second failure of the enterprise. The powerful batteries used, so say the electricians, will be able to force from six to eight words through per minute, perhaps more. By agreement with the English Government, the charge for each word is 2s 6d, at which low rate it is apprehended the line will be overwhelmed with work. The idea has, therefore, been suggested to the shareholders to abandon the government patronage, and make the charge £1 per word, by which change, it is supposed, a million of pounds may be realized yearly, a sum almost double the entire expense of the line fully completed. A very short time will determine the commercial effects to be produced by this instantaneous communication with Europe.—St. Louis Democrat, 12th ult.

A POPULATION COLUMN.—For the benefit of those who discuss the subjects of population, war, pestilence, famine, &c., it may be as well to mention that the number of human beings living at the end of the hundredth generation, commencing from a single pair, doubling at each generation (say in thirty years,) and allowing for each man, woman and child, an average space of four feet in height, and one foot square, would form a vertical column, having for its base the whole surface of the earth and sea spread out into a plane, for its heighth 3674 times the sun's distance from the earth. The number of human strata thus piled one on the other, would amount to 460,790,000,000,000.—Sir John Hershel in the Fortnightly Review.

THURSDAY MORNING, AUG. 10, 1865

[illegible] of the Territory.

The lines still continuing down and telegraphic communication interupted, we deem this a favorable opportunity for offering to our readers a few remarks upon the probable (and we may add) certain future of this Territory.

That the entire Territory abounds in mineral wealth has been made by repeated analysis of specimens brought in by various propecting parties in different parts of the Territory, as well as the working and developing of the mine in certain localities, so manifest as to be beyond a peradventure.

That miners and the attendant influx of population will swarm over the face of the country during the years to come, is as certain as that effect follows cause.

The day of isolation from any but the most meagre communication with the outer world are happily past, and the time fast approaching when we shall here in Utah be forced by circumstances to recognize fully and fairly our dependence not only upon the Government of which we do and must form an integral part, but also our amenability to the well established opinions of christendom at large; and lest the disruption of prejudices implanted by unreasoning and quasi religious partizanship might be so sudden as to become dangerous, it is manifestly the duty of such as have influence in the community and every part of it, to give heed to the signs of the times as well as to prepare the minds of the people therefor.

In this way when another (and certainly, a very large) element shall have been superadded to our present numbers—the old and new inhabitants instead of looking on each other as antagonistic from the start, and thus incurring the danger of becoming really inimical, the one to the other, in the end—will co-operate harmoniously, each in its proper sphere, and both working together for their own best interests. We know of no greater mistake, than the opinion, which a considerable intercourse with all classes in this Territory leads us to know to be the belief of a great majority of the less enlightened population, viz: that the influx of miners must necessarely be injurious to the people of Utah. We would ask any candid person entertaining such belief to put to himself the question distinctly, in what way is this injury to be brought about? Is it by enhancing the products of the farm? Surely that is a benefit to the farmer, and not alone to him, but to the entire people of Utah, inasmuch as the abundance of money resulting from the labor of the mines must more than counterbalance the enhanced prices.

Let such a man compare the amount of money now in circulation with the amount to be seen in Utah in the spring of '62; and if the neighboring mines of Idaho together with the presence of Gen. Connor's command, have already done so much towards ameliorating the condition of the people in this respect—how much more benefit is to be derived from the working of the mines in our vicinity.

All this is before us and if we are prepared for it, so much the better; if not the fault shall not lie with us, and we hope that the intellect of the people at large will enable them to see for themselves that the outer world (as it is the phrase here to term christendom!) is not hostile to the people in this valley, nor to any of their tenets which do not conflict with right, reason or that universally recognized Common Law, which, is the perfection of reason.

Seventy Indians representing fourteen different tribes, are reported on their way to Washington to confer with the President. A council has been held with the Indian tribes lately in the rebel service, and a preliminary treaty formed with them. The final treaty will be made at the Grand Council in September next. The Cherokee Indians, who are allies of the rebels, are said to be in a starving condition.

AN ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE.

BY A RESIDENT OF UTAH.

ARTICLE 37.

In accordance with the promise made at the close of my last article, I will now give to the readers of the VEDETTE the benefits of my knowledge of, and experiences in connection with, the "hand cart" system.

This system was inaugurated in the year 1856. Brigham Young was its author. The arguments advanced in defence of the system were that traveling by the proposed mode would be easer (!). cheaper, and, in every way, better than by the ordinary method of travel. The capabilities of the working classes were descanted on. The number of miles traveled by them in the pursuit of their ordinary labor, was carefully calculated, and even the distance supposed to be traveled by the fair sex in the discharge of their domestic duties given, from which it was made to appear that the members of both sexes already traveled daily more than they would, ordinarily, be required to travel in the carrying out of the hand cart scheme. Hence, its adaptability to the physical capacities of the masses being demonstrated to the inexperienced in the wild life of the prairies, to their satisfaction, they no longer doubted either their own competency for the Great Overland Trip, or the feasibility of the proposed mode of travel, and the result was that the scheme merged from a theoretical into a practical existence.

Erastus Snow, one of the "Twelve Apostles," was, at the time in question, the agent of the church in the United States, and co operated with Franklin D. Richards, also one of the twelve, and then presiding over the church in the British Isles, in preparing and conducting the emigration of that season. The "outfitting point" for the hand-cart emigration was selected near Iowa City, Iowa, whither the Utah-bound by that system were rendezvoused, and where Mr. Snow repaired to conduct the management of affairs, and make the necessary preparations. The hand-carts were made under the superintendence of Elder C. G. Webb, and the first company, composed chiefly of the aged and infirm, and the very young, whose members tested their strength as draught-animals, left camp at the place above designated on the 9th of June, under the supervision of Captain Edmund Ellsworth, one of the Presidents' of Seventies, and son-in-law of Brigham Young. This company was followed by another from the same place under Capt D. D. McArthur on the 11th. The two companies numbered four hundred and ninety seven (497) souls, and their outfit consisted of one hundred (100) hand-carts, five (5) wagons, twelve (12) oxen, four (4) mules, and twenty five (25) tents. The first company were one-hundred and ten (110) and the second company one hundred and eight (108), days performing the journey, arriving in Great Salt Lake City on the 26th of September, after a "trudge and pull" of upwards of thirteen hundred (1300) miles. Captain Ellsworth walked the entire distance, and very commendably rendered all the assistance in his power to the poor creatures under his charge—the only reward, in a tangible form, that he received, being "a hand cart girl" for his third wife. In order to create as great a sensation as possible in Utah and elsewhere among the adherents of Brigham Young, as well as to silence the objections to his policy in this matter, and encourage and elate the hope of the pilgrims yet to travel by this novel method, these two companies were met on the day of their arrival within about a mile and a half of the foot of the little mountain by Brigham himself, and his first counsellor, Kimball; accompanied by the man who has since been promoted to the dignity of Second Counsellor, and who then passed under the bombastic military title of "Lieut. General D. H. Wells," (aspecies of title for which the Mormon Utah chiefs, notwithstanding their peace-loving pretentions, have a decided penchant.) Capt. H. B. Clawson's company of bowie-knife and rusty-weaponed lancers—the brass bands under Captain Pitt, and a number of carooched and equestrian ladies and gentlemen, (pardon me fiend Brighamite, for I had almost forgotten that I am in Utah, where custom directs the ladies to be placed last as the inferior portion of humankind,) and a vast and heterogeneous mass of zealous pedestrians, who "counted all things else as but dung and dross, compared with the excellency of the gospel" as expounded by their quasi prophet, and who regarded their permit to follow in a procession honored with the presence of Brigham Young as a highly-to-be-prized privilege on which, in future years, they would look back and feast as a reminiscence of one of the happiest days of their chequered lives.

The enthusiasm was so intense that the poor travel stained wanderers were made to forget the bleeding and blistered feet,—the wearied and aching limbs—the frequent wish indulged by some in their retiring, moments, when the turmoil of the wearisome day prevented the needed rest at night, that ere the night should close, their sorrows might terminate in death, and their spirits join those of their fellow-pilgrims whom the severity of the trip had driven to another, and let us hope, a better and happier sphere. Others, and by far the majority, had looked forward to the Zion of their excited hopes and heated fancies as the panacea for all their earthly troubles, to reach which, was the goal of their ambition. This latter class had often sung with glee, and cheered themselves and the more desponding with the hope-inspiring hand cart song, with the chorus of which

"For some must push and some must pull,
As we go marching up the hill—
So merrily on the way we'll go,
Until we reach the Valley."

they had often made the welkin ring, and nerved themselves with a persevering obstinacy to do and to accomplish in spite of all obstacles, that makes one grieve, when contemplating the votex of misery into which it has plunged them.

All, however, were delighted with the reception they met on the day of their arrival, and as they saw the fruits, vegetables, and other, to them, rarities, profusely lavished upon them, their past sorrows were as some hideous dream, and they really felt that they had arrived in Zion, where every man they met would "be a brother and a friend." Pleasing thought! Fond illusion! But how unceremoniously dispelled by the sad realities that have since aroused them to a sense of their true condition, I must leave for abler pens than mine to describe. The pageantry with which they were escorted into the city, and the high eulogiums passed upon them by the serpentine insinuations of the author alike of their past misfortunes and their present triumphant joy, elevated them in the estimation of the weak-minded into heroes—"the pioneers of the gathering by the wisely-divised plan of Brother Brigham, whose names would go down to posterity as the obedient and faithful of the house of Israel." Such was their debut on the stage of Utah-life; but their then audience perceives a vast change has since been wrought in the actors, who have but too faithfully realized the truth of the old French proverb—

"Qui se fait brebis le loupe le mange."

Letter from Egan Kaynon.

ERINA, EGAN KAYNON, }
Aug. 4th, 1865. }

Vedette:—Business here is improving rapidly; the mills are in operation, and after two weeks more there will be a third one in full blast. The New York Company mill is expected here some time in September. The agent has a large number of men mining and getting out timber for the mill, &c.

The "Social Company" is doing good business, as usual—their mill running regularly, except Sunday's and when out of repairs. They have sunk two hundred and sixty feet on the old shaft, and are making arrangements to resume work and go down to water level.

The New York Company are drifting on the Jenny Lind and getting out good rock.

The Washikee Company have resumed work on the Hope, and they think they will have their mill in readiness to crush in two weeks.

The Gold Cañon Company have made arrangements to have their rock crushed by one of these mills. Several tons of the rock passed down the cañon to the mill a few days ago, which had the appearance of being rich in gold.

Several small parties are out every day prospecting the country, and new ledges are frequently discovered.

There are a great many mining ledges here, without a doubt, but, like all other mining localities, it requires capital to open them. In my opinion this would be an excellent place for capitalists to invest. There is no better rock in the country—good locality—on the mail route—and an abundance of timber land—good range for stock and good spring water. Being deficient of means here, it has the tendency of retarding the progress of the mines. With capitalists in here, the mines would soon justify all branches of business, and Erina would then be able to compete with, yes, and pass beyond Reese.

Yours, &c.,
DIRIGO.

From San Francisco.

FURTHER OF THE WRECK OF THE BROTHER JONATHAN.—LIST OF THE SURVIVORS.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 3.

The Colorado sailed to day with $1-600,000 in treasure, and about four hundred passengers. The Saginaw arrived from Guaymas. She coaled and departed with the Colorado, which she will convoy till satisfied there is no danger from the Shenandoah, when she is to start in search of the pirate. She took an extra gun.

A great mass meeting is to be held to-night to oppose the repeal of the Specific Contract Law.

The Bulletin has an obituary notice of James Nesbit, who was doubtless lost on the Brother Jonathan.

The following message was received at the office of the California Steam Navigation Company, last evening:

CRESCENT CITY, July 30, via Jacksonville, Oregon, August 2.—The steamer Brother Jonathan struck a sunken rock, off St. George's Point, eight or ten miles north-west from Crescent City, about half-past one o'clock, P. M., to-day, and went down about forty-five minutes aftewards, and all on board are supposed to be lost except seventeen adults and three children, who came ashore with me in the ship's life boat at this place at about 5 o'clock, P. M. All the small boats at this place have gone to the rescue. There are no hopes of saving any one. Two boats swamped alongside of the ship, and there were three boats left on the steamer. The passengers are cared for by citizens here.

The following is a list of those saved: James Patterson, third officer; David Farrell, steerage steward; Henry Miller, baker; Patrick Linn, fireman; Wm. Lowry, fireman; Wm. E. Shield, waiter; Stephen Morgan, waiter; Mrs. Mary Ann Tweedle, Mrs. Minnie Bernhart and child, Mrs. Martha E. Wilder, Mrs. Martha Slote and child, and four colored seamen.

At 8 o'clock the boats returned and reported nothing seen of the wreck.

We have given up all hopes.

(Signed) JAS. PATTERSON,
Third Officer.

AN exchange is responsible for the following: The late tornado in Nebraska kicked up some queer pranks. It blew eight oxen over a river 800 yards wide. It took all the water out of a pond, carried it a mile and then sat it down on Mayor Doran's farm in the shape of a small lake. It blew a man's boots off. Another man's coat was not only blown short, but actually buttoned from top to bottom. One old lady went up like a balloon, was carried two and a half miles, and was finally landed astride a telegraph wire, where she was found by her grand son and relieved by a ladder. Another said the wind not only carried his dwelling house, but his sub cellar and two wells. Tall tornado that!

Married.—On the 7th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. Norman McLeod, Mr. James T. Hunter, of Stockton, Cal., and Miss Almeda daughter of James Miller, of the City Hotel, in this city, and formerly of the American at Denver.

A party of the settlers in the southern part of Utah, San Pete County, who have been the victims of Indian robberies and murders, succeeded, a week or so ago, in following up and "chastising" those red raiders gloriously. They killed a baker's dozen of 'em—13!

A man named Silver was found hanging to a limb in the Last Chance country, one fine morning of last week, with the following in circus capitals appended as a "card"—"Road Agent." He had formerly been convicted of abstracting a large purse of dust from an "honest miner."

Grotesque.—Capt. Frank-Hall, of the Black Hawk, Col., Mining Journal, has evidently an idea of the grotesque as well classic, in chronicling events. Hear him: They have found a lake of glue in the Interior! a spring of mush and milk on the line of the Pacific Railroad! and mountains of salt up the Colorado River! "Who tied mine tog loose?"

Speaking of the arrival at New Orleans of the rebel Gen. Albert Pike, the Atchison Champion adds "the discoverer of Pike's Peak." Yes—in a horn! It was "discovered" centuries ago by Catholic missionaries and Spanish adventurers from the three-hundred-year-old city of Santa Fe, New Mexico. But it first "got its name up," in the maps, by one Lieut. Zebulon Pike, of the U. S. Exploring Company that wandered through Arkansas and New Mexico in 1804-5, "hunting after" the head-waters of the Red River, &c. The libraries of "bleeding Kansas" cannot hardly be without "Pike's Narrative," an old quarto publication.

On the 1st of January last, the number of names on the army rolls was twelve hundred thousand. So says a Washington letter writer.

The Charleston correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says there are no elements in South Carolina out of which to construct a State; nothing but disloyal whites and ignorant blacks, neither being sound material.

An expedition will start from Leavenworth for the Plains about the middle of August, to collect and herd for a while, and thus tame and subsequently drive to the States, for a market, not less than 5,000 nor more than 10,000 buffalo.

The members of the Provost Guard, with their lady and gentlemen friends, had a fine and festive party at Daft's Hall, the night before last, which was kept up until the twilight hour of yesterday morning. The brave volunteers in blue, whether from the Golden or the Silver State, show themselves at home in the "poetry of motion" as well as in the tactics of the sword and carbine.

Speaking of Montana, an exchange calls it a new offspring of the Republic, born in the war, it is a sturdy man-child, hearty and thriving. In an existence of only three years, it has gathered into its borders an earnest, working population of fifty thousand whites, who may be fairly presumed to be that indefatigable and energetic race who people our new Territories.

Read the advertisements. No person can read the advertisements in a paper without being benefited. Almost every kind of business is therein set forth, and a careful reading will give you information of persons, occupations, localities, changes, new firms, matters, &c., that you cannot otherwise obtain without labor and trouble. Advertisements form an elaborate history of commercial transaction. Read them.

Petroleum V. Nasby gives advice to the Democracy about the negro question, and says that "nigger equality kan always be worked 2 advantage. In times gone by I've notist gushin virgins of 45 full 16 hands high, and tough ez wire, holdin aloft banners onto which wuz inscribed, "Save us from Nigger Equality." Yu see it suthed 'em 2 hav a chance uv advertizin, 1st, That tha wer frale, helplis critters, and 2d, That anshunt and tuff ez tha wuz, sum one was still goin fur em." Nasby is a brick.

Pigs are getting plentiful in "Pikes's Peak." But they are of a species that keeps pork high still. "Of the earth, earthy," is not applicable to 'em, inasmuch as they are pigs of iron. The manufacture of pig iron in Colorado is bound to be a big success, so soon as the railroad once begins. The Belmont Furnace, on Boulder Creek, gave birth to a great big lot of little pigs, of this description, a couple of weeks ago, and intends doing ditto every week to come.

The Worst Yet.—Of all the species of biped beings—men, women, setting hens and Cayuse ponies—save us from the worst of 'em in the shape of the slanderer and gossiper! It certainly is no sign of religion or respectability to cast a dozen slurs about an absent party for the one that's complimentary. We would rather be away in Helicon than at the sweetest home to stay—and have to suffer this low curse of our own "best society."

Apologetic to the "Union."—Through an antithesis of the types, in yesterday's edition, appeared the following: "A correspondent of the last newspaper of the West—the Sacramento Union—has the following from its Santa Fe, New Mexico, correspondent." Need we explain that it was what we might aptly call an illustration of that text of Scripture which says the "last" should be "first,"—and that "last" the best! But errors will creep in, come what may or will. Speaking of the Sacramento Union, we consider it the first-best news paper in the West.

Rosecrans in Nevada.—The hero of some well-fought battles, Major General Rosecrans, familiarly called "Old Rosy," arrived at Virginia City, Nevada State, a week ago to-night. He made a speech from the balcony of the International, thanking the firemen for their kindness in escorting him into the city; of his satisfaction at meeting on the Pacific coast so many good and true Union men; of the struggle through which our country has so happily passed; of the unity of feeling between the people of the Pacific and Atlantic coasts and of the certainty of their being shortly united by one or more iron bonds in the shape of railroads. He said that he came out to see whether the young men who had been fighting the battles of their country could be profitably employed in developing the mineral resources of the Pacific region, should they choose to come hither.

The Virginia City Enterprise adds that the General intended to visit the mines and mills; also to visit Maguire's Opera House the following night, being the occasion of a benefit to one Mr. Isaacs, a violinist, and the seeing of Miss Josephine—"the most artistic jig-dancer on the Pacific coast, together with her sister Nettie!" (The exclamation point is ours.)

United States
7.30 LOAN.
Third Series.
$230,000,000.

By authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, the undersigned, the General subscription Agent for the sale of United States securities, offers to the public the third series of Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. interest per annum, known as the

7.30 LOAN.

These notes are issued under date of July 15, 1865, and are payable three years from that date in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder into

U. S. 5-20 Six per Cent.
Gold bearing Bonds.

The Bonds are now worth a handsome premium, and are exempt, as are all the Government Bonds, from County, and Municipal taxation, which adds from one to three per cent. per annum to their value, according to the rate levied upon other property. The interest is payable semi-annually by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest at 7.30 per cent. amounts to

One cent per day on a	$50	note.
Two cents per day on a	$100	note.
Ten cents " " "	$500	"
Twenty cents " " "	$1,000	"
One Dollar " " "	$5,000	"

Notes of all the denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions.

The notes of this Third Series are precisely similar in form and privileges to the Seven Thirties already sold, except that the Government reserves to itself the option of paying interest in gold coin at 6 per cent., instead of 7 3-10th in currency. Subscribers will deduct the interest in currency on to July 15th, at the time when the subscribe.

The delivery of the notes of this third series of the seven thirties will commence on the first of June, and will be made promptly and continously after that date.

The slight change made in the conditions of this THIRD SERIES affects only the matter of interest. The payment in gold, if made, will be equivalent to the currency interest of the higher rate.

The return to specie payments, in the event of which only will the option to pay interest in Gold be availed of, would so reduce and equalize prices that purchases made with six per cent. in gold would be fully equal to those made with seven and three-tenths per cent. in currency. This is

The only Loan in the MARKET.

Now offered by the Government, and its superior advantages make it the Great popular Loan of the People.

Less than $230,000,000 of the Loan authorized by Congress are now on the market. This amount, at the rate at which it being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within sixty days, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of country may be offered facilities for taking the Loan, the National Banks, State Banks, and private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which the receive orders.
